To Whom it May Concern:

We have been working with Ted D'Amore of D'Amore Design Studio-Architects on a reconstruction project at our church for the past several months. Ted was introduced to us by our insurance adjuster, and we've been quite pleased his professionalism and attention to detail. Rather than simply design a repair to return the church to its pre-fire condition, Ted reviewed the design and layout of every element in the building and made many suggestions that will improve the usability of the building once we're finished with the construction. He noticed that some important supporting walls had evidently been removed from the building in past renovations. He designed new supports that leave our seating and altar area column free.

We've been pleased that Ted or his staff members will come to the job while it's been under construction and explain the drawing's requirements to the sub contractors that have been working on the project. As a church, we have been blessed to have many volunteers to help in the reconstruction, and these volunteers have not always been expert in reading the plans and understanding the specifications. Ted has been available by phone or in person to explain the drawings and aid us in getting our church rebuilt. While we are very happy that Ted corrected the structural deficiencies, we're surprised that Ted is also very interested in the final appearance and reminds us how certain details of the construction must be built 'just-so' to give the end result he's designed for us. Once we're back in our building we anticipate further renovations and improvements for the front of the Church. We've already asked Ted for some ideas and plan to engage him on these future projects.

I highly recommend D'Amore Design Studio for any type of construction project you may be contemplating. Our impression is that he cares about our project, our budget, and about us, the client. It shows.

Sincerely,

Pastor Lipton D. Rattray
